MEET BILL

Bill has a multi-faceted practice that includes matters such as antitrust litigation, public finance and securities matters, zoning and land use, construction, and insurance litigation, including legal malpractice cases. He represents a diverse client base including real estate owners and developers, insurance companies, legal professionals, school districts, and government entities.

EXPERIENCE

Bill has diverse and comprehensive experience in complex commercial disputes, where he serves as trial and appellate counsel. His breadth of litigation experience allows him to advise clients on a variety of legal fronts, adding value to his representations by enabling him to provide clients with guidance in different areas without having to rely on additional consultation.

Some of his recent representative matters include:

- Handling anti-trust actions involving price-fixing and monopoly;
- Advising clients in government fraud and qui tam cases;
- Representing a Pennsylvania school district in construction litigation;
- Counseling clients on legal malpractice suits;
- Assisting insurance companies in collections of delinquent premiums and deductibles; and
- Representing owners and developers in real estate partnership disputes.
