MEET DOMINIC

"Each of my clients is incredibly important to me, and I take a very personal interest in their success. Making sure I provide the best solution for the client's specific needs is paramount, of course, because clients want results, but they appreciate it even more when they know that their lawyer really cares about them."

— Dominic S. Liberi

Dominic has a varied practice, focusing on mergers and acquisitions, finance, technology law, corporate and partnership law, securities and real estate.

Dominic loves a challenge. The more difficult and complex the problem, the more satisfaction he derives from bringing his attention and energy to bear on it. He believes that practicing law is an opportunity to both develop and utilize new and creative thought processes and, ultimately, help his clients solve problems and achieve their goals.

In his free time, Dominic enjoys playing golf, cooking for family and friends, amateur photography, historical novels and biographies, as well as following politics and world events avidly.

His clients have included internet technology and software companies, physician groups, banks and other financial services businesses, including specialty finance companies and commercial lenders.
