MEET JEFF

"The best thing about being a lawyer is the moment you achieve your client's goals."

— Jeffrey T. Wolber

Jeff is a litigation attorney focusing his practice on general liability defense.

Jeff prides himself on his dedication to clients and his ability to thoroughly analyze legal issues. For each case, he enjoys gathering relevant information and developing a strategy for obtaining a successful resolution. His passion for the law makes him an excellent advocate, and his well-rounded experience provides him the insight necessary to tackle any challenge.

In his free time, Jeff enjoys watching hockey, playing pool, golfing, and traveling.

EXPERIENCE

Prior to joining the firm, Jeff focused on medical malpractice defense as a litigation associate for a major New York City based firm, where he became well-versed in civil litigation. Before becoming an attorney, he worked as a legal intern for a pro-bono program, as a judicial intern, and as a legal assistant.
