MEET JEFF

"I walk clients through defining the issues and structuring solutions, helping them get to the end game while forming close, personal relationships."

— Jeffrey Batoff

Jeff is a litigation and entertainment law attorney, representing clients in the state and federal courts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Clients appreciate Jeff's problem-solving approach: a multi-variant analysis involving not only the legal and practical issues involved in a claim or dispute but also the most cost-effective way to achieve clients' goals. Jeff's objectives are to win large cases for litigation clients and to help entertainment law clients get their projects produced.

EXPERIENCE

Jeff has extensive experience in commercial and construction litigation and other business-related issues and needs, including appellate, corporate matters, intellectual property, real estate, and zoning & land use. He is also involved in government and public policy matters, including election law, government contracting, government relations, and local government law.

In addition, Jeff handles commercial, personal injury, and products liability defense claims in addition to a subspecialty in catastrophic losses.
